DCC Insurance Policies

The Duffy Counseling Center does not accept any insurance nor does it participate in network benefits. The Duffy Counseling Center will provide each client with an itemized bill, per client's request, at the end of each month. It is the responsibility of the client to submit this itemized bill to their insurance company for possible reimbursement. By signing this document, you (the client or the guardian of the client) acknowledge and accept the Insurance Policies of the Duffy Counseling Center.

Confidentiality

What is discussed within the therapeutic session is protected under federal confidentiality regulations (42 FCR, Part 2). Confidentiality can be broken if the patient or client gives written consent, in the form of a release of information, for the therapist to exchange relevant information with designated parties. The client or patient has the right to revoke this release of information at any time. Confidentiality may also be broken in situations of harm or danger. If the client or patient is harming self or others, is the victim of harm, or is planning to harm self or others, the therapist has a duty to report. Harm is defined but not limited to physical, sexual, and emotional abuse. For quality assurance purposes, your record may be reviewed by The Duffy Counseling Center for completeness and compliance with the American Counseling Association (ACA) code of ethics. All identifying information will remain confidential. By signing this document, you indicate an understanding of the limits of confidentiality within the therapeutic setting.

Please note that information discussed within therapy is CONFIDENTIAL. The Duffy Counseling Center is legally and ethically bound to uphold confidentiality at all times except when given written permission to exchange information with designated parties. Confidentiality may also be broken if there is any suspicion or mention of harm within the therapy session. Harm may be defined as physical, sexual, or emotional abuse.

*The Duffy Counseling Center does not participate with any health insurance policy. Administrative obligations associated with filing insurance claims severely restrict the time available for your care. In most cases, visits are partially or completely reimbursed by your insurance company. In our private practice, less time spent on administrative and billing issues allows more time to be dedicated to your care. Services are tailored to your emotional needs. We are considered out-of-network providers when filing reimbursement claims with your insurance carrier. You will be provided after each visit a fully itemized and coded receipt that can be attached to your insurance reimbursement form****
